The Closet team does not advise you to purchase, sell, or hold any cryptocurrencies. Prior to making any investing decisions, do your own research and speak with a financial professional. By purchasing Closet, you acknowledge that you are not making an investment or purchase of a security, and you agree to indemnify and hold the team harmless from any damages or taxes you may suffer. You also acknowledge that the team is not obligated to offer any support or services and is merely delivering the token "as is" and is not obligated to offer any assistance or services. You shouldn't hold Closet and its team to any standards. Because the team cannot guarantee compliance with your territory's laws, even though Closet is a community-driven token for social networking and not a recognized digital currency, the team strongly advises residents of such locations not to buy it. Before making any purchases, be sure you are abiding by the rules and regulations in your area.

ABOUT US

The journey of coming out the closet can be challenging and fraught with emotional hurdles for many individuals within the LGBTQ+ community. CLOSET token seeks to alleviate the struggles faced during this process by spreading awareness through the power of meme-culture. Memes in this day and age are powerful tools of communication that can be harnessed to spread the word and battle oppression. Closet gives a voice to the voiceless

Closet token (CLO) is cryptocurrency built on the Binance smart chain. Its primary purpose is to facilitate positive change within the LGBTQ+ community, focusing on easing the coming out process through meme-culture and foster awareness and acceptance of the community.
